WHEN LIGHTS ARE LOW.

The rooms are hushed, the lights are low,
I sit and listen to the wind.
It comes from the distant hill,
It comes from an unknown;
Or alien regions east and lone,
Of pleasures lost in a land unknown;
Then steals away, and is still.
When rooms are hushed and lights are low,

When those we love have come and gone,
'Tis weary to be left behind;
To sleep sweetly when all day about
The house for what seems like life,
Lone-cheerless hours that taunt the mind,
Of pleasures lost in a land unknown;

When those we love have come and gone? —New York Times.

FEBRUARY 9TH-THE DATES.

Acknowledged which is the best night, must refuse in Judge, because one is so much better than the other and each best of all that to advise you to choose one's preference in the group would be to deprive you of much enjoyment.

Thursday night, February 9th—Dedication; music and tableau.

Friday night—Two bright and well acted farces comedies.

Saturday night—the vaudeville variety, charming songs, beautiful dances, enchanting music, high class drills, &c., a fashionable cakewalk, which will be done by artists in the latest duds, in the steppened manuah and with that grace which will be a revelation.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., February 7th, 1899.

Did you ever think that over the river, the river of real—

We will one by one be put to test—

And he who fears the Opera-house will be blessed—

And the time will come when in hell or heaven we are to meet—

Be careful he who is not in favor of the asphalt streets—

For in hell and heaven god and the devil will judge the Just—

And of all the bulls the Washington will be the best

And he who bears his ring will be disturbed from his rest

For she will be hung high like the old hawks nest

I am like a hawk like the old hawks nest

And I am like a hawk like the old hawks nest

And my nose from cold and good old whisky is as red as a beet

Now while we are living let us live a happy and business life

And above all things let us be honest and good to our wife

For without the lovely women it would be a lonesome strife

Old Mayville has the name of being a town of great wealth

Now let us have good streets so the wont loose the reputation of herself

And old Mayville will have a good name in heaven and rest on the top shelf

Now eosin give the boys a nice little tip

And tell them to open their eyes and pull their lip

So other girls can say that Mayville is well with the grip.

Yours truly

Big Dick From Boston.

The Fiscal Court has been in session several days, arranging the purchase of several small trunks.

Yesterday Messrs. W. W. Baldwin and Charles D. Pearce appeared before the Court as representatives of the Maysville and Lexington and Maysville and Mt. Sterling roads.

At the last November election the proposition was carried by the voters to issue $60,000 in bonds.

Yesterday the Court offered this sum to Messrs. Baldwin and Pearce for their roads.

They declined to accept.
